Truman Names Woman to FCC

Appoints Brannan Secretary

Anderson's Aid To Succeed Him

WASHINGTON—President Truman today nominated a woman for membership on the Federal Communications commission and Charles Franklin Brannan as secretary of agriculture. Brannan now is assistant secretary.

The president asked the Senate to approve the appointment of Frieda B. Hennock, a New York City lawyer, to the position on the FCC now held by Clifford J. Durr.

Durr said sometime ago that he did not want a new term.

Miss Hennock, nominated for a seven-year term starting July 1, is the first woman ever appointed to the commission.

Brannan, a native of Colorado, would succeed Clinton P. Anderson who resigned as secretary of agriculture to compaign for election to the U. S. senate from New Mexico. In accepting Anderson's resignation. President Truman urged his election.

WIFE BACKS WALLACE

Durr, whose wife is supporting Henry A. Wallace for president, blamed "low pay" of commissioners when he announced that he would retire from the Federal Communications commissions when his term expires June 30.

Mrs. Virginia Foster Durr, the commissioner's wife, is chairman of the North Virginia provisional Wallace committee.

Durr, himself, has been an outspoken critic of President Truman's loyalty program for government employes which calls for government workers to fill out questionnaires, be fingerprinted and otherwise investigated.

The FCC has been under fire recently for issuance of radio broadcasting permits to Unity corporation and other corporations in which Toledo Lawyer Edward Lamb is principal stockholder and policy-maker. One of Lamb's corporations last March received a permit to build a broadcasting station in Mansfield.

The permit was one of five which Lamb, accused in the House of Representatives as having an "expansive record" of communist writings, associations and affiliations, received in two weeks.

Brannan, a lawyer who joined the government service in 1935, played a large part in recent months in the administration's food conservation program.

He became regional director of the Farm Security administration in 1941, serving in that post for three years. He was assistant FSA administrator for three months in 1944 before he was named assistant secretary of agriculture.

He was an adviser to the American delegation to the United Nations conference and represented the agriculture department as a liaison officer with the U.N. social and economic council.

Truman Short Of Delegates

WASHINGTON —(UP)— President Truman apparently will go into the Democratic national convention in July without enough formally pledged delegates to assure his nomination.

Mr. Truman has 140 pledged delegates so far. The unpledged or opposed number 636 and Ohio's 54 are pledged to W. A. Julian, treasurer of the United States. There are 404 Democratic convention delegates still to be selected. A total of 618 is necessary to nominate. Some southern delegates will be pledged against or opposed to Mr. Truman. Among these are the delegations of Alabama, Florida, Virginia, South Carolina and Mississippi.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Sen. Gurney (R-S.D.) today introduced a compromise amendment eliminating the compulsory draft of 18-year-olds from the Senate armed forces manpower bill. He explained that the change will permit 18-year-olds to volunteer for one year of military training but would "take out the mandatory draft."

Diver Aids In Search For Body

A diver went to work today in the Charles Mill reservoir, in an attempt to recover the body of Mrs. Mary Katherine Allen, 24, of Cleveland, who drowned Saturday afternoon while on a picnic at the lake.

Richard Temple of Wassem's Boat service at the lake, said the diver was hired by the parents of the drowned woman.

Temple said six boats were used in dragging operations yesterday, but operations were unsuccessful.

Five boats were pressed into service today. In addition, two rafts were used as diving platforms for the diver. The body had not been recovered by noon.

HELP IN SEARCH

Among those who participated in the dragging operations were Kenneth Wassem, operator of Wassem's Boat service, his son, James, Miles D. McCarty, lake patrolman and Frank Crume, safety director for the Muskingum Conservancy district.

Others included Lee Wright, Philip and Pete Hergatt, Cecil Booker and John Green.

Mrs. Allen drowned after a rescue craft tipped over. She and two others had just been pulled into the craft by McCarty after their rowboat capsized.

McCarty said he turned to start the motor when someone moved, tipping the boat. The others, Mrs. Evelyn Knox and John Miske, both of Cleveland, were rescued.

McCarty was picked up by Joseph and John Wendling of Mansfield. The identity of the other rescuers was not learned.

Cool Wave To Remain

The Mansfield area was believed to have escaped the frost damage that hit sections of northern Ohio today as the mercury dipped to the lowest mark in 77 years for this late in the spring.

While Mansfield's reading was 40, Cleveland and Akron reported readings of 35 and Norwalk had a low of 34. Frost damaged tomatoes, beans and other crops in sections of the state.

The cool weather is due to remain through Tuesday morning with a little warming up due by tomorrow afternoon. Overcast skies were forcast for tomorrow. The mercury had climbed to 56 by noon today.

While no major frost damage has been reported here, the continued cold weather has retarded the growth of corn, tomatoes and other weather crops.

Dems Ask Term Limit

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Five Democratic lawmakers said today it would be both "unwise and dangerous" to extend for only two years the terms of the atomic energy commissioners.

In a minority report of the Senate-House atomic committee, they urged that the recommendations of President Truman be carried out.

The President on April 20 renominated Chairman David E. Lilienthal for a five-year term and the other commissioners for terms ranging from one to four years.

The Democrats said a bill introduced by Chairman Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) and Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) "would seriously impair the efficiency of the atomic energy program." It would extend all of the terms to June 3, 1950.

The bill was approved by a majority of the committee last week.

National P-TA Congress Opens

CLEVELAND—(AP)—With delegates here from as far away as Hawaii, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers opened its 51st annual convention today.

The opening address on the program was by Mrs. L. W. Hughes of Arlington, Tenn., president of the congress.

Mrs. Keith E. Weigle, president of the Ohio congress, yesterday was elected head of the national congress' state presidents' club.

SNI-F-F-F—It was a sunny afternoon and Stephen Charles Greer, 16 (months, that is) was taken for a stroll at the Reformatory Gardens by his mother, Mrs. Dee Greer, 149½ North Main street. Stephen noted the petunias in bloom and, after taking in their beauty with his eyes, took a long sniff-f-f-f. George Petrovic, N-J photographer, happened to be nearby.

Jealousy Blamed For Dayton Tragedy

DAYTON — (AP) — The smell of smoke and violent death hung today over the residence of William A. Stump, 37, whose body and those of his slain wife and two sons were found yesterday.

Coroner A. P. McDonald said that preliminary investigation showed Stump beat his wife and boys—Harry, 12, and Dale, 10—to death with a baseball bat in their home in nearby Butler township.

The coroner said neighbors told him Stump was so jealous of his wife that he would sprinkle fuel oil on both porches before leaving for his nightshift job and then inspect the oil slick for footprints when he returned. Neighbors said Stump's suspicions were groundless, the coroner added.

Stump sprinkled the house with fuel oil befor setting it afire, then killed himself with a shotgun, the coroner added.

The bodies of Mrs. Stump and the boys were found in their beds. Stump was slumped in a chair in his wife's bedroom, a shotgun nearby, McDonald said. A can partially filled with fuel oil was near the gun.

A Dayton psychiatrist, Dr. Howard Campbell, said he had recommended Stump be committed to an asylum "five or six times," but each time Mrs. Stump refused to sign the papers after they were drafted, McDonald reported.

Mother Killed By Son's Gun

CINCINNATI — (UP) — Albert A. Moebus, 33, a Dayton engineering executive, today was held on a charge of suspicion of murder in the fatal shooting of his 52-year-old mother during a quarrel over his approaching marriage.

He told police his mother, Mrs. Bertha B. Moebus, objected to his engagement to a Dayton girl. A quarrel followed, he said, "and mother came up behind me and grabbed the barrel of the gun." She pulled on the barrel, pressing my finger against the trigger and the gun went off."

'This Is Magnifique'

Triplets Make Andre At 68 Father of 35

NEW YORK—(UP)—Andre DuPre, a 68-year-old dishwasher, said today he has no intention of limiting the size of his family even though the triplets his fourth wife presented him yesterday brought the number of his children to 35.

"But," he added, "give me time. Don't rush me."

DuPre, a voluble Frenchman with a shock of grey hair, was recovering some of the calm he lost when his 34-year-old wife, Juanita, gave birth to the triplets in their three-room flat in crowded East Harlem.

It wasn't, he said, because he was becoming a father again. And multiple births were nothing new to him. His first wife, now dead, had four sets of twins among the 14 children she bore him.

"But triplets—sacre bleu! That I wasn't looking for," Dupre said. "The doctor said we'd have twins, probably—but this, this is magnifique."

The first of the triplets, Joseph, four pounds, was born unattended, but two policemen and a special nurse assisted in the births of two girls. The babies were reported "doing fine" in an incubator in Harlem hospital today.

Between trips into the bedroom to look after his wife, DuPre said he was a native of Marseille and one of a family of 23 children.

He was married the first time in Argentina, where his oldest child, now 51, and 13 other children were born. His wife died and in 1917 he went to New Orleans, where he married again. Eleven more children were added. His second wife also died and his third wife presented him with six children.

He came to New York 15 years ago and married his present wife in 1945. In addition to the triplets, they have an 18-month-old-daughter.

DuPre, a former circus trapeze artist and trick bicycle rider, works at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

UAW Agrees To Negotiate

BULLETIN

DETROIT — (AP) — General Motors corporation today offered the CIO United Auto Workers a wage increase in excess of six cents an hour, according to reliable sources.

LANSING, Mich. — (INS) — Gov. Kim Sigler announced today he has persuaded principals in the 13-day-old Chrysler corporation strike to resume negotiations Wednesday.

The governor said Chrysler and UAW-CIO officials have agreed to meet in his private conference room at Detroit so as to "be undisturbed and on neutral territory."

This is the first step toward renewal of negotiations since 75,000 Chrysler workers walked out in support of their demands for a 30-cent hourly wage increase and other benefits.

The governor intervened in the dispute as the UAW threatened to call out 225,000 General Motors workers unless its 30-cent hourly package demand is met by Friday, when the contract expires.

26 Hurt Fighting Fire

MILWAUKEE — (INS) — Fire damage to a Swift and company wholesale branch in Milwaukee was estimated today at $100,000. Twenty-six firemen of a 100 man crew were overcome by smoke during the five-hour blaze yesterday in which $60,000 worth of food was destroyed.

Hogs Sell At Higher Prices

Quotations Up From $1 to $3

CHICAGO—(UP)—Partial settlement of the prolonged meat packing strike sent hog prices booming upward today.

CIO Packinghouse Workers returned to their jobs this morning at three of the meat industry's big four packing firms after 67 days on strike.

Opening hog prices at Chicago were $1 per hundred pounds higher. At St. Louis they were up $1.50 to $3.

Farmers sent the heaviest cattle shipment to market since March 8, eight days before the strike began. Cattle sent to the 12 big midwestern livestock terminals today totaled 71,500 head, compared with 74,000 March 8 and 57,500 a week ago today.

FEWER HOGS SENT

Hog shipments today totaled 76,600, compared with 77,000 last Monday. Favorable weather kept many farmers in the fields and prevented them from shipping hogs.

About 70,000 employes of the Swift, Armour and Cudahy Packing companies and 10,000 workers at independent firms were set to resume work in plants they struck March 16.

Pickets continued to parade before Wilson and company plants, however. The union continued the strike against Wilson because the firm refused to arbitrate cases where strikers were fired for illegal acts.

A spokesman for Swift, largest of the packers, said farmers would probably ship huge lots of livestock to markets for the next week.

But none of the spokesmen would promise the housewife that the more plentiful shipments would ease the strain on her pocketbook.

They said that prices would depend on "supply and demand—particularly demand."

Start Dam By June 1

Construction of the Clear Fork dam, held up by wet weather, "should start around June 1," B. V. BeVier, city sanitary engineer said today.

"It's got to dry up down there before they can start." BeVier said. "They can't work in wet clay."

Meanwhile, work is nearing completing on the 36-inch interceptor sewer across Ashland road. BeVier said the city water department still has to get authorization from council to add 300 feet to the south end of the line.

Additional construction scheduled includes two manholes at the Westinghouse site which will connect the 36-inch company sewer line into the old 20-inch line, now clogged.

Anti-Subversive Amendment Asked

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Rep. Gerald W. Landis (R-Ind.), proposed today that the Taft-Hartley law be amended so employers may fire "subversive" employes without being charged with unfair labor practices. He made the recommendation as the House-Senate labor committee opened hearings on proposals for changes in the 11-month-old labor law.

BURIED TODAY—Thomas C. Wasson, United States consul general in Jerusalem, who died Sunday of wounds suffered when struck by a sniper's bullet in the battle for the Holy Land, was buried today in Jerusalem. The killing of Wasson and the wounding of a staff member was the first major incident to involve Americans in the Arab-Jewish struggle for the key city. Wasson was shot Saturday returning from trying to arrange an Arab-Jewish truce in the Holy Land.

U. S. Seeking To Identify Killers of 2

Consul General And Sailor Die

WASHINGTON — (INS) — United States officials in Jerusalem sought today to determine ~~the nationalities~~ of the persons responsible for the deaths of two Americans in the Holy Land fighting.

Navy Chief Engineman Herbert M. Walker, of Dallas, Tex., became the second American casualty in the Arab-Jewish war when he died from machine gun fire.

Walker's death followed that of U. S. Consul General Thomas C. Wasson who expired Sunday night after being struck by a sniper's bullet in the streets of Jerusalem.

A third American, Consular Guard Thomas Gannon, of Washington, who was shot in the back last week, was reported out of danger.

A state department spokesman said the identity of the sniper who killed Wasson was unknown. Haganah, the Jewish fighting agency, claims the veteran diplomat was killed by an Arab. The Arabs have issued no statement.

Wasson was shot Saturday while returning through Jerusalem streets from a futile United Nations truce commission seeking a halt in the fighting. He was the American representative on the commission.

Walker was fatally wounded Friday in an exchange of fire behind the American embassy in Jerusalem. The state department has received no reports, however, as to the identity of the participants in the street battle.

Both men were buried today. Funeral services for Wasson were arranged in the Catholic Rosary convent across the street from the American consulate. His body will be brought to the United States for burial after hostilities cease. There were no details of funeral plans for Walker.

Film Stars Shine Again For Ohio

LANCASTER.—(AP)—The hoopla of a world movie premiere comes to central Ohio tonight for the second time in a year.

Maybe there'll be a bit less opulence than a Hollywood opening usually has, but Lancaster is going all out in its own special way for the premiere of "Green Grass of Wyoming."

Some of the scenes of the film were shot here last summer. Movie stars Peggy Cummins, Charles Coburn and Martha Stewart are due to arrive this afternoon to join the festivities.

The first time Hollywood smiled on a central Ohio town was in the opening of "Repeat Performance" at Zanesville May 22, 1947. The town beamed its biggest civic smile for Richard Basehart, one of the stars in the cast. He's a Zanesville native.

After their arrival, Miss Cummins and Coburn, co-stars of "Green Grass," will set their footprints in wet cement in the town square.

There'll be a cocktail party, a radio broadcast and grand premiere ball. Tomorrow there will be a gigantic parade, including some 30 high school bands, before the premiere in the Palace and Broad theaters.

Israel Agrees to Truce

Security Council Called to Meet

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The United States has appealed directly to the seven Arab nations to comply with the United Nations security council's cease fire order for Palestine.

★

LAKE SUCCESS—(AP)—Faris El Khoury of Syria said today the Arabs would ask the United Nations for a 36-hour extension of the security council's Palestine cease-fire appeal. El Khoury said consultations on the truce were in progress now, or would begin shortly, at Amman Trans-Jordan.

★

(Compiled From Wire Services)

A high Arab representative said today the Arab countries would not agree to an unconditional cease-fire in Palestine.

The Jews have announced they would stop fighting if the Arabs would.

Faris el Khouri of Syria, only Arab member of the United Nations security council, told a reporter the Arabs would cease fire only if the provisional government of Israel ceased to function.

This virtually ruled out a truce in the Holy Land war.

El Khoury made his statement less than an hour before the cease-fire deadline set by the security council late Saturday. The council called on both Arabs and Jews to stop the war by noon (Mansfield time) today.

The council was scheduled to meet at 1:30 p. m. to hear the results of its appeal. El Khoury said he was not sure whether he would speak.

Meanwhile, there was little fighting anywhere except Jerusalem. Arab forces encircled the city, but within it they seemed little closer to victory than they had a week ago. Determined Jewish resistance had left the Israeli still in control of most of the modern areas of the Holy City.

NO OTHER THREATS

Nowhere else in Palestine had Arab attacks threatened Jewish positions seriously.

Arabs had not been able to over-run even the more exposed Jewish areas, such as the settlements in the Negev to the south, and in the Galilee region to the north. The main body of the Jewish state — the coastal plan from above Haifa on the north to below Jaffa on the south—had suffered nothing more than harassing Egyptian air raids.

Most observers had taken for granted that the end of fighting in Palestine would find Jews still in possession of the territory the United Nations partition plan would have alloted them.

For the Arabs, time was running out. There was every indication that steadily increasing pressure to reach a truce agreement under which a peace of some kind could be negotiated would be brought on them.

MAY LIFT EMBARGO

In Washington, there were increasing indications that continued fighting in Palestine would bring almost immediate lifting of the United States embargo on shipment of arms to the middle east, making it possible to supply Israel.

In both London and Washington, diplomatic pressure was being brought on the British to withdraw their support of the Arab nations. British spokesmen have said frankly that their policy in the middle east must be dictated in the interest of maintaining good relations with the Arab states.

But it did not appear that Britain could hold out very long against American threats to cut European recovery program aid, and possibly to refuse military aid and cooperation with the western European defense union.

The Bright Spot In Europe

French Enjoy Light Again; Shave In Warm Water

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is the first of two dispatches on post war recovery in France).

By EARL J. JOHNSON

PARIS —(UP)— French economy has not begun to roar yet but there is an unmistakable hum in the bright clear air of Paris this spring, and people are saying the worst is over.

You can depend on gas and electricity now, thanks to imports of coal and petroleum. Early risers don't have to shave in cold water by candle light the way they did last winter. You can have 25 per cent more bread, too. Effective next month, the daily bread ration goes from 200 to 250 grams per person, thanks to wheat from America.

Two hundred and fifty grams is a shade more than a half pound. During the German occupation the daily ration never fell below 350 grams a day.

But prices have gone up 40 per cent faster than wages and the spiritual lift you notice in sidewalk cafes may be only an expression of thanks for small favors—and for peace and sunshine. It ignores the fact that the government has not been able to roll back prices. It ignores the fact that union labor (the communists control the unions about four to two) may soon demand a further 20 per cent wage boost. This could lead to serious trouble for the government and for the people.

Much of the improvement that makes the French people feel more optimistic this spring is due to the help from abroad such as UNRRA, interim aid, and ERP. But these assists alone would not have been enough to save France from financial chaos. The French also helped themselves. They devalued their money, cut government costs, increased taxes, forced savings into government loans and reduced the amount of money in circulation by calling in all 5,000 franc notes.

France's most pressing needs are still for wheat, coal, petroleum and factory equipment. Those are the main items the government hopes to get from ERP. Some of it will come from other countries in Europe, of course. Intra-European aid is part of the recovery program.

The French have made remarkable progress with what has come in already. Industrial production is up 13 per cent over 1938. Good results are coming from the reconstruction program. These gains may be enough to justify the claim that France is the economic bright spot of Europe.

Newspaper Editor Fails to Show Care In Selection of Company

LAST OCTOBER 5, Joseph Herzberg, the city editor of the New York Herald Tribune, made some pretentious remarks about the H-T and journalism in general. He did this on a broadcast as a guest artist of William A. Gailmor in New York. I have already told you that Gailmor is a thief, a slacker and a preacher of the communist line and that for one mercenary reason he renounced his religion and for another, re-embraced it. I repeat this summary as station identification.

Herzberg seems to respect Gailmor as a journalist. Here we may have a clue to the ethics and politics of the city desk of the Herald Tribune affecting its news and editorial slant.

If Gailmor is a journalist at all he is a journalist of a type which Herzberg would seem to me to be obliged to despise and oppose, not embrace.

★

"You know," Herzberg said to Gailmor "a newsparer story is a weapon far more dangerous than any in the arsenal of the scientist."

That is a dramatic cliche of an ideology bloke and it doesn't mean a thing, but let us take him at his word and use it on him.

"And," the boy prodigy said, "the reader should be entitled to know just who and what are behind such a powerful instrument."

Still further, he said, truthfulness in reporting was the only consideration on the news side of the H-T.

Well, then, Herzberg and Mrs. Ogden Reid, the publisher of the H-T, can't blame me for striving to tell who and what are behind these "dangerous weapons" which appear in the Herald Tribune, and who decides which stories are not to appear.

Why should the city editor of the H-T, which purports to be a Republican paper, lend the prestige of his office to a commercial show run by this pioneer promoter of the rape of Poland—this thief and renegade of the newspaper business?

When I say renegade of the newspaper business I refer you to an exultant story by Gailmor's friend, one Arnold Blom, then employed by Marshall Field's thing, called PM, in 1944. Blom said that when he and Gailmor worked on the radio desk of the New York Daily News, editing a five-minute hourly news summary, Gailmor got in his ideological licks and sabotaged the editorial policy of the paper.

Did Herzberg know this about his friend Gailmor's past?

I will say that, if he is nearly as smart as he pretends to be, he should have.

Repeatedly, since Herzberg revealed his friendship for the renegade, the H-T has suppressed "truth" in stories about him.

When, in the fall of 1944, I dug Gailmor's dirty record out of the police files and watched his squirming at the office of the old blue network to keep his job as a news commentator, first claiming to have no religion and then claiming to be devout, the Herald-Tribune didn't tell the story. Perhaps they thought Gailmor wasn't big enough to be news, although they could have strained a point because he had been slandering their candidate, Tom Dewey, if Dewey actually was their candidate.

County Lets Painting Job

F. L. Daugherty, Mansfield painting contractor, today was awarded a contract for painting the exterior of the Richland county home buildings.

His bid was $4,391.25. The estimate for the work was $4,500. The only other bid, that of the Glasener company, Mansfield, was $4,925.82.

This was the second time bids were received. All bids were rejected the first time as the low bidder intended to spray-paint all of the buildings except the main one using "barn paint," county commissioners said.

John W. Selby, chairman of the board, said the second specifications call for brush-painting of all buildings with two coats of lead paint.

Taft Woos Support Of MacArthur Camp

WASHINGTON—Senator Robert A. Taft's camp was credited today with spurring a move to get Gen. Douglas MacArthur home to testify before the senate appropriatons committee on Far Eastern conditions before the June 21 Republican convention.

The Taft backers apparently think MacArthur—with eight delegates backing him in Wisconsin, two in Ilinois, and scattered strength elsewhere—might be induced to support Taft publicly if the general concludes he can't win the nomination himself.

The Taft camp admits privately that a chief worry is the feeling among some convention delegates that the Ohio senator might not be able to win in November if nominated.

The possibility of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's being picked at the later Democratic convention already is being used against them, Taft's backers say. Hence they would like to have MacArthur in their corner as a security hedge in the delegate's minds.

STASSEN FADING

The Taft people said their fear of a convention blitz of Harold E. Stassen was eased by the victory of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in last week's Oregon primary.

But what they gained there, they lost in new worry about the New York governor's regained strength.

Besides the 12 presidential nominating votes he picked up in Oregon, Dewey apparently showed up some of his weak spots elsewhere. This seemed particularly true in the south, where he and Taft have been fighting for delegations that like to ride a winner.

Meanwhile, Senator George (D-Ga.) said the voters ought to elect in November "a strong, one-term president who can set this country on the right course."

George, who has been mentioned as Georgia's favorite son candidate in the Dixie civil rights battle against President Truman's nomination, told a reporter he doesn't think Mr. Truman "is the answer to the country's prayer for leadership."

"We need a strong, one-term president who will forget politics and bring expenditures down to the point where we won't go bankrupt," the Georgia senator declared.

STARTED SOMETHING—

When the Senior high school band and J. Merton Holcombe, supervisor of instrumental music at the schools, arrived in Oberlin for the 1948 Mock Convention recently they discovered that they were too late to participate in the main activities. The band, however, decided to play a few selections while marching to the field house at the college. The music drew scores of persons who fell in line and marched to the field house. The convention committee, witnessing this modern adaptation of the Pied Piper, decided that the results were so good they warranted following the same procedure at the next convention in 1952. The march to the field house following a band will now be a traditional event, just because the Mansfield Senior high school band was a little late.

New Car Hits Pole, 2 Autos

Driver Steps On Wrong Pedal

Three persons were injured, one seriously, in two traffic accidents in and near Mansfield last night and early today.

Most seriously hurt was Mrs. Mary Brook, 62, Mansfield, R. D. 5, who was involved in a spectacular mishap at 7:45 a. m., today at Second and Hedges streets.

Police said Mrs. Brook, wife of James Brook, suffered severe chest injuries and lacerations of her face when the 1948 model car she was driving struck two cars and a utility pole.

She was taken to General hospital. Police said she suffered possible internal injuries and possible fractures of the chest bone and ribs.

HITS WRONG PEDAL

Officers said Mrs. Brook's foot apparently struck the accelerator instead of the brake pedal as she attempted to slow down at the Second and Hedges intersection.

The car lurched forward, struck an auto driven by Mrs. Mary Dillon, Newville road, careened into a parked car owned by John Kiraly, 63 South Linden road, and then crashed into a utility pole. Mrs. Dillon was uninjured.

An Ashland couple suffered injuries last night in front of the open air theater on U. S. Route 42, state highway patrolmen reported.

Mrs. Josephine Patterson, 28, Ashland, suffered fractures of her right ankle and cuts and bruises, and her husband, Robert, 29, received cuts and bruises. Both were taken to General hospital.

Patrolmen said Patterson's car collided with the rear of an auto operated by Victor Gazelle, 28, Ashland, as Gazelle slowed down at the theater entrance.

Wolfords In Hospital Here

Both Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Wolford, 824 Park avenue west, suffered fractures of their right arms and multiple contusions Saturday night in a traffic accident on State Route 61 north of Shelby, it was reported today. Mrs. Wolford also suffered a rib fracture. Dr. Wolford is a Mansfield dentist.

They were removed from the Shelby hospital to Mansfield General hospital where they were reported recovering satisfactorily today. Their son, Thomas, who also was in the car, escaped injury.

The Wolford car was involved in an accident with one driven by David Williams, Plymouth, when Williams attempted a left turn off the state highway, state patrolmen said.

Williams, his wife, and son, Ronald, 6, suffered minor injuries.

Golfing Bugs Battle In Own Unique Loop

By CHARLEY STINE

The nine golf leagues which play at local courses get their share of publicity but there is one league of Mansfield golfers which is known only by the players themselves and their left-behind wives.

The Traveling league, so-named by its chief executive, Pete DeSanzes, is composed of a half-dozen golfing bugs who take delight in seeing how far from home they can go to play. DeSanzes is the chief simply because the others ride in his car.

Each week during the summer for the past five or six years these men have taken one afternoon a week and driven to golf courses all over the northern part of Ohio. Oho. They play in rain or shine for matches, meals and drinks.

★

"It all started," says DeSanzes, when some of us who play regularly grew tired of the same courses and decided we would go to close-by cities once a week. The idea caught on and soon we had played all neighboring cities and began to move farther on.

"We have played as far away as Cleveland and Columbus regularly and if there is a course within a hundred miles that we have not been on I would like to know about it," Pete tells proudly.

★

Shortly after noon any Thursday, the group can be seen on West Fourth street, loading their clubs into the car in front of Pete's PD Bar. In the group will be Jerry King, Neil Maxwell, Dale Muth, Sammy Saprano, and Harry Lemley.

Lemley is one of the most faith- of the lot, he and DeSanzes not having missed a trip with the "league" since it began.

Perhaps the only real rule of the league is that they go the day decided upon regardless of the weather.

★

"One day last summer we played in the rain at Bucyrus and got so wet we had to ask a store to open up so we could buy dry clothes," Pete relates. "Of course we all wanted to quit, but nobody would."

"And what we are the proudest of is that we are still friends."

PUTTERING AROUND — With the opening of two driving ranges this sprng, Mansfield golfers have five places at which they can pursue their favorite pastime. . . . No part of the city is now more than five minutes drive away from a golf tee. . . . Since the driving ranges stay open until midnight, there are actually only about four and a half hours during which some form of golf is not available.

We came within six inches of making a hole in one the other day on our first trip around Possum Run. . . . Trouble was we were driving from the 17th tee and landed on the 16th green. . . . Coolridge was a problem, too. . . . Playing alone, we went around twice before we found the third hole. . . . Thought that fourth was awfully short. . . . Irish McGee, manager of Possum Run, and the Fred Huntsman's Coolridge proprietors are both former residents of Zanesville, our old stamping ground. . . . Westbrook still needs several golfers to complete the 12-team league which will open next Friday. . . . Better get in the swing.

Cleveland Splits With New Yorkers

DiMaggio's 3 Home Runs Whip Feller

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Someone once said "as DiMaggio goes, so go the Yankees." Never did the Cleveland Indians realize the accuracy of that statement more than today.

The Indians and the Yanks battled it out for the league-lead in a double-header yesterday at the Cleveland stadium before 78,431 fans, second largest paid crowd in baseball history.

The first game went to the Yanks, or rather DiMaggio, by a 6-5 count, but the Tribe bounced back to throttle Joltin' Joe and take the nightcap, 5-1.

The first game was all DiMaggio's as he blasted three consecutive homers, knocked in all of New York's runs, and had a perfect four-for-four at the plate. Cleveland rolled in the second contest, however, on the pitching of Don Black and relief hurler Russ Christopher.

Joe DiMaggio

Cleveland gave Bob Feller a four-run lead in the first inning of the opener, but the fireball king was unable to hold it. Thurman Tucker started things off with a single and Robinson walked. Tucker scored on Gordon's single, and both Gordon and Robinson came home as Ken Keltner belted his 13th home run of the season.

TAMES TRIBE

Allie Reynolds tamed the Indians thereafter until the ninth. In that frame leadoff man Dale Mitchell walked, and Hal Peck, pinch-hitter for Jim Hegan, greeted reliefer Joe Page with a single to right. Joe Tipton, batting for Bob Muncrief, also walked. Pat Seerey struck out, but Manager Lou Boudreau kept the rally alive by walking, forcing in Tucker. Robinson ended the game by striking out on three pitched balls.

Meanwhile, DiMaggio made his three circuit-smashes good for two runs in the fourth, three in the sixth and the game deciding tally in the eighth.

The Indians pounded Ed Lopat, perennial Cleveland jinx, for two runs in the first inning of the second, and added three more for good measure in the seventh.

TRIBE SCORING

In the first, Tucker was safe on an error and scored on Boudreau's double. Robinson sent Boudreau to third with a ringing single to right and the Tribe manager scored on Gordon's long fly.

Seerey, who garnered three safeties in the finale, opened the seventh with a single to left. Tipton followed with another one-baser and Christopher walked, filling the sacks. Tucker singled to right, and Seerey and Tipton came home. Clark sacrificed and Christopher scored on Robinson's fly to right.

Black gave up one Yankee run in the fifth and Christopher was called on to put out the fire when Bill Johnson singled and George McQuinn doubled with none out in the seventh.

Two Managers Get Hot Seat Sizzling

By JOE REICHLER, AP Sports Writer

The managerial "hot seat" was sizzling today under Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Joe McCarthy of the Boston Red Sox.

Durocher's Dodgers struck rock bottom yesterday with a resounding crash that could be heard all around Brooklyn from Coney Island to the Gowanus canal. They not only lost their eighth straight when they bowed to Cincinnati's Reds 6-5, but sank into the National league's cellar.

McCarthy's Red Sox were only a shade better off. A stunning double defeat dealt them by the tail-end Chicago White Sox dropped them into seventh place, only four lengths out of the American league's basement.

What makes the present plight of Durocher and McCarthy most unenviable is the fact that both found themselves on the spot at the outset of the campaign. Durocher, after a year's absence at the special request of Commissioner A. B. Chandler, took over a team which had won the National league pennant in 1947. He was figured to finish no worse than second.

SPENDING SPREE

Even more was expected from McCarthy, who had come out of retirement to direct the Red Sox. A mid-winter spending bee by owner Tom Yawkey which brought such established stars as Vern Stephens, Stan Spence, Jack Kramer and Ellis Kinder to Boston, caused the experts to make the Red Sox pre-season favorites.

Joe Hatten of Brooklyn couldn't hold onto a 5-0 lead yesterday as the Cincinnati Reds stormed from behind to kayo the California southpaw, and went on to hang the defeat upon rookie Erv Palica.

Pitching couldn't be blamed for the Red Sox' double dousing yesterday as late rallies gave the White Sox two 4-3 triumphs. Bob Kennedy's ninth inning single off Earl Johnson scored Pitcher Joe Haynes with the winning run in the first game. Joe Dobson's wild pitch enabled Don Kolloway to score the winning run in the 10th inning of the second game.

A record breaking Cleveland crowd of 78,431 saw the Yankees and Indians divide a double header. The Yanks defeated Bob Feller, 6-5, in the first game. Cleveland took the finale, 5-1. Ken Keltner, major league home run leader, hammered his 13th in the the opener.

WIN TWO TILTS

Dick Fowler and rookie Lou Brissie pitched the Philadelphia Athletics to within a half-game of the American league leading Indians by twirling 7-3 and 8-1 victories over the Browns in St. Louis.

Virgil Trucks walked Pinch-hitter Early Wynn with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning to force in Gil Coan with the run that gave Walter Masterson and the Washington Senators a 1-0 triumph over the Tigers in Detroit. Washington made only four hits to six for Detroit.

The National league leading St. Louis Cardinals pounded six Philadelphia pitchers for 31 hits to win a doubleheader from the Phillies, 18-3 and 4-1. Scoring in every inning but one, the Cards collected 17 hits in setting a season scoring high in the opener.

Larry Jansen pitched a four-hitter to notch his fifth victory of the season, as the New York Giants defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-1, at the Polo Grounds. Despite the victory, the Giants dropped a half game to trail the Cards by three.

The Braves moved into a third place tie with Pittsburgh by downing the Chicago Cubs twice in Boston, 8-5 and 12-4.

Piles Are Never "Mild"
DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, billiousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

Akron Autos Blast Grays Nine, 18-8

The Mansfield Grays dropped their second game in two days yesterday when they fell before the strong Akron Borden Autos, 18-8, at Blue Goose field.

Five errors and nine bases on balls contributed heavily to the Akron output as four pitchers appeared on the mound for the Mansfield club. Don Fought opened the hill chores and was followed by Mike Byelene, Russ Leedy and Manager Ray "Lefty" Deeds.

Akron really got going in the second inning, counting eight runs The Autos picked up three more in the third, five in the fourth and three in the ninth. The Grays had a five-run sixth.

The Grays outhit the visitors 11 to 10. However, Saccone clouted a home run with the sacks crammed and Carlson banged one with a runner on base.

Kenny Funk, shortstop, led the Grays' attack with a brace of doubles.

PGA Semi-Finals Slated Today

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — Jimmy Demaret faced Ben Hogan and Claude Harmon took on Mike Turnesa today over the 36-hole route in the semi-finals of the PGA tournament.

Regardless of what kind of golf Turnesa, of White Plains, N. Y., could throw at Harmon, it couldn't be any rougher than Claude's 42-hole marathon with Sammy Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., yesterday.

The recent Masters champion won the duel second longest in PGA tournament history with a 25-foot putt on the 42nd hole of the Norwood Hills Country club course. Snead, who was six down through 21, dropped out as his last putt — also a 25-footer — hit the back side of the cup and bounced away.

Turnesa, one of seven golfing brothers, continued as a surprise of the tournament in beating big Johnny Bulla, of Phoenix, Ariz., 6 and 5, with a four under par performance for 31 holes.

Demaret, of Ojai, Calif., and Hogan of Hershey, Pa., both native Texans, came through the quarter finals with brilliant performances.

Demaret showed the greatest game of the meet in beating George Fazio, of Conshocken, Pa., 5 and 4, going the 32 holes in 14 strokes under par and with only two putts conceded.

He made the morning round in 10 strokes under regulation figures a snazzy 61.

Hogan, the 1946 PGA champion, built up a 5-hole lead over Melvin (Chick) Harbert, Northville, Mich., in the first 18 and staved off a late enemy rally in the afternoon to win 2 and 1.

Harmon teaches golf during the winter at the exclusive Seminole club in Palm Beach, Fla., and is summer pro at the Winged Foot club at Mamaroneck, N. Y.

Finals of the meet are scheduled tomorrow.

Coal Strike Cloud Dims Steel Plans

Summer Problem Seen as Difficult

CLEVELAND—(UP)—The possibility of another coal strike clouds the outlook for continued high steel production, the Magazine Steel said today.

With output now 95 per cent of capacity and the scrap supply considerably improved, Steel declared:

"Collapse of negotiations between soft coal operators and the miners last week, before they had scarcely started, is posing a particularly difficult hurdle for the summer months. Settlement of this dispute before coal contracts expire June 30 now appears more remote than ever.

"While a government injunction may prevent strike action until September, the whole situation makes planning ahead extremely difficult for both producers and consumers of steel."

Steel also expresse concern over "the third-round wage drive" in the automotive industry and pointed out Chrysler as a good indicator of things to come

If the union wins its demands in its strike there, the magazine said, industry can expect "wage demands and work stoppages on a wide scale over the summer months." If it fails, it said, then general pay boost "enthusiasm" will be dampened.

The lack of uniformity in the price pattern of the steel industry again drew Steel's attention today.

National Steel Corporation, said Steel, reduced cold-rolled sheets and strip $2 per ton, while Sharon Steel Corporation cut prices $1 per ton on hot-rolled carbon strip, and $2 on hot and cold rolled alloy strip and high tensile strip.

"Two southern producers," the magazine went on, "advanced their prices $3 per ton on pig iron, while a St. Louis district producer raised its pig iron price $5.75 per ton.

"A producer of charcoal pig iron also raised prices $3 per ton."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Gandhi Suspects To Go on Trial

NEW DELHI, India — (AP) — The alleged triggerman and eight co-defendants accused of engineering the assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi are expected to go on trial for their lives next week in historic Red Fort here.

Security forces are taking elaborate precautions to prevent any attempt to deliver N. V. Godse, obscure Poona newspaper editor, and his eight co-defendants, or shoot them down in court or otherwise silence them.

Vandenberg Assumes Favorite Role Among 'Dark Horses'

GOP to Give Big Initial Vote to Taft

Dewey Talked For Vice Presidency

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON — (INS) — An underground search of popular support today is thrusting Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan into the role of favorite among "dark horse" possibilities for the Republican presidential nomination.

The "big three" will control more than two-thirds of the delegates, but the race appears to be wide-open. The Republicans meet in Philadelphia four weeks from today.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio continues to lead in first ballot strength. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York remains in the second spot and Harold Stassen is a poor third.

The continuing International News Service poll shows the following first ballot strength:

Taft, 301; Dewey, 268; Stassen, 134 delegates.

DEADLOCK TALKED

There is increasing talk among Republican leaders of a deadlock at Philadelphia. Vandenberg has become the favorite among "dark horses," taking that role away from Speaker Joseph Martin, of Massachusetts.

This may be due to repeated rumors that Governor Dewey will support Vandenberg if he cannot win the nomination for himself.

Some of Vandenberg's supporters are spreading this rumor. They say that Dewey himself has told intimates that if he cannot win he would prefer the nomination of Vandenberg to that of any other GOP contender.

In this connection, some Washington observers are writing and talking of a Vandenberg-Dewey ticket. This speculation is based on Vandenberg's repeated declaration that if elected he would serve only one term.

LOOK TOWARD '52

The story is that with Dewey supporting Vandenberg in 1948 and serving four years as his vice president, Dewey would appear a cinch for the 1952 nomination.

Both Dewey and Stassen have spoken well of Vandenberg in their campaigns. If both support him, after an early deadlock, he would become an overwhelming favorite to win.

There is always, of course, the possibility that Taft and Dewey will get together personally and join forces for the nomination of one or the other. Their joint followings dominate the convention.

26 Drunks Give Muny Court 'Wettest' Week End In Months

The front row in municipal court was kept unusually warm this morning as 26 seedy-looking individuals rotated through the chairs, mumbled, "guilty" to Judge H. H. Schettler's question of whether they had been intoxicated, and then departed by the back door.

The wettest week end in a long time provided the hang-ers in the courtroom. Traffic bureau stenographers said 150 persons have been charged with intoxication so far this month as compared with 70 persons fined for the same charge during a corresponding period in April.

Three of the drunks were arrested on state affidavits, two getting off with fines and the third was committed to the workhouse at Columbus to work out a $75 and costs fine.

Stiffest traffic violation fine meted out today was given to Robert L. Grubb, of Lansing, Mich., fined $50 and costs when he pleaded guilty to being in physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. His companion, Glenn Hardman, also of Lansing, received a $20 fine and costs when he pleaded guilty to unsafe operation. The fines grew out of an accident Friday night on West Fourth street.

John Thompson, 19 Harmon avenue, arrested by sheriff's deputies on an assault and battery charge, was fined $10 and costs. A nine-day term in the county jail was suspended on condition of good behavior.

Drawing $5 fines were Lewis E. Johnson, 306 Miller street, failure to have an operator's license; Betty Johnson, Trailer City, drunk and disorderly conduct; and James Ogle, also of Trailer City, drunk and disorderly conduct.

Joseph Monastra, Shiloh, R. D. 2, was fined costs of the hearing and given 10 days in the county jail for operating a car while his driver's license was revoked.

Hearing on the threatening in a menacing manner charge against James McNew, Bellville, R. D. 2, was continued to June 1.

Self-covered buttons trimmed the back of the dress to the low waistline. Soft folds of satin formed the Panier sides under which fell the long sweeping skirt. Her French illusion veil was held in place by a headpiece of French orange blossoms. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

She carried a white Bible topped with white roses, tied with satin streamers.

Mrs. Carl Nussbaum of Ontario, close friend of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids the bridegroom, and Mrs. Win- the bridegroom, and Mrs. Winifred Rogers, sister-in-law of the bride, both of Mansfield.

Their gowns were made with a sweetheart necklines and elbow length shirred puff sleeves. Double butterfly bustles trimmed the skirts. They wore ruffle headpieces and short mitts made of rayon net to match the shades of their gown.

Each attendant carried a front style bouquet of mixed flowers.

Ada Rinehart, friend of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a white ninon voile shirred gown over a rayon taffeta skirt. It was made with a sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves. With this she wore a fingertip veil attached to a tiara of rosebuds. She carried a hand crocheted basket filled with rosepetals.

Paul Duffey of Mansfield was ring bearer.

Mrs. Rogers wore a lavender dress with white accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Henry chose a floral print dress with black accessories and wore a corsage of white roses.

Raymond Sayre of Ashland, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Winfred Rogers of Mansfield, brother of the bride, served as ushers. Charles House of Mansfield, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held for 125 guests at the Prospect Park pavilion. Refreshments were served from a long white table centered with spring flowers and a five-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Robert McCulley cut the cake and Miss Retann Parkison poured. Assisting with the serving were Miss Eleanor Goettel, Miss Lois Shoull, Miss Juanita Clever; Mrs. Larry Murphy and Mrs. Raymond Sayre.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

Claim that "the house will outlive the mortgage" seems rather optimistic for some of the recently built domiciles.

"Work has gone to the gettin' wherever money was got" is an old saying, which is harder for some people to believe in these days.

Oregon Outcome Weakens Stassen

SUCH pre-convention contests as that held in Oregon Friday are unlikely to have any great effect in determining the outcome of next month's Republican national convention in Philadelphia, as the expression of preference was merely between two contenders for the presidential nomination, with only 12 delegates involved.

The fact that the outcome was relatively close, with Dewey having a majority in some districts and Stassen in others, evidences a quite natural division of opinion as to the comparative merits of these two contenders for nomination but fails to reveal the feeling of Oregon Republican voters toward other avowed or receptive candidates.

Most likely effect of the superior showing made by Dewey in Oregon, following the poor showing made by Stassen in Ohio early this month, is that the former Minnesota governor's earlier appearance of strength is waning and that, by convention time, he will not be regarded as a serious contender for the nomination.

Should One Fund Solicitation Suffice?

BEYOND DOUBT there is merit in the suggestion that the Mansfield Community Chest open its doors to other health and welfare agencies and that a renewed effort be made to consolidate the major fund raising drives into one annual campaign.

This suggestion is to be inferred from the questionnaire sent out by the Chamber of Commerce asking 1,000 representative citizens and groups if they would approve such a move.

Like many good things, however, it is likely to be difficult to accomplish. Quite naturally, organizations now operating on their own will be reluctant to surrender any part of their autonomy. They also have rules and regulations which in some instances may prevent them from fitting into the Community Chest setup.

As pointed out in the Chamber of Commerce letter, the contributors will decide, in the long run, if these other agencies are to be supported separately or whether, if they are to survive, they must adapt themselves to Community Chest requirements.

And contributors will be affected by three things: general economic conditions, the ability to make gifts, and annoyance at frequent solicitation.

If only a start is made—if one or two drives can be eliminated and their agencies incorporated in the Chest with a feeling of satisfaction all around—it will be a step in the right direction. Tightening economic conditions at some future date might force what is now sought on a friendly, uncoerced basis.

Death Intrudes On Day's Outing

WITH the outdoor season just opening, the drowning of a woman in Charles Mill reservoir Saturday afternoon may well serve as warning of the danger associated with various recreational activities around bodies of water—especially for those who are unable to swim.

Boating, bathing and fishing provide enjoyable outdoor activities for many people but the tragic occurrence of Saturday serves to emphasize the need for caution at all times—and also the advantage of being able to swim when some unanticipated emergency arises.

There is quite general agreement that being taught how to swim should be a part of every child's education, and it may be hoped that opportunities along this line will be broadened in the Mansfield area during the present season.

From Russian To English Language

UNDERSTANDING of Russia would be promoted if more Russian literature were translated into English, and by different translators. This is implied in a recent talk by Ken McCormick, a New York publisher, at the New York public library.

He says that the great Russian masters may all be read in English, but that most of the translations are due to the devoted labors of the late Constance Garnett. She made Tolstoy, Dostoevsky and the rest all sound alike. "This," says Mr. McCormick, "is as if the Russians gained the impression from translations into their language of Wolfe, Fitzgerald, Hemingway and Faulkner, that all wrote alike."

Translating from any language is not easy, and not many Americans have the requisite knowledge of Russian to undertake it. But it might give a clearer idea of the country and its people if more Russian literature were translated by different people.

New Dam to Be Fourth Biggest

HUNGRY HORSE DAM on the Flathead river in Montana, a tributary of the Bitter Root river, which in its turn flows into the Yellowstone, will be one of sights to see in the United States. It is not built yet; in fact its contract has only now been awarded, but it will be worth seeing when done.

The Hungry Horse dam will be the fifth highest and fourth largest in the world, surpassed in volume only by the Grand Coulee, Shasta and Hoover dams. It should be of extraordinary aid to the industrial and agricultural development of Montana and the Northwest. The start of this project is one of the big events of 1948.

Seattle Strike Tests Taft-Hartley Law

THE CURRENT strike at the Seattle plant of the Boeing Airplane company, now in its fifth week, has national significance on two counts. First, it has halted vital defense operations and, second, it involves the integrity of a basic principle of the Taft-Hartley act. In addition, there is a question of elementary justice to the company and to the city of Seattle.

The company has a backlog of orders amounting to $300,000,000 from the government and from private companies. As a part of the government's armament program, Boeing is turning out the B-50, which is a super edition of the famous B-29.

It is also producing the C-97 Stratofreighter, which is an Army cargo and troop transport. Furthermore, there is the XB-47 jet bomber, an incredible jet and rocket dreadnaught. On the civil side is the immense Stratocruiser.

The manufacture of these planes at the Seattle plant has virtually reached a standstill. The origins of the trouble go back more than a year.

At that time, the Aeronautical Mechanics' union was operating under a wartime contract with the company. That contract had a no-strike clause. Negotiation with the company for a new contract began early last year.

The company offered 10 cents an hour pay increase and asked for a modification of a particularly restrictive seniority rule which, the company asserted, prevented the transfer of employes and hampered the direction of the working force. The union rejected the offer and voted to strike at that time. The parent Machinists' Union refused permission to the local to strike, and work went on under the old contract.

* * *

Dispute Over Contract.

IN JANUARY of this year, after negotiations had been reopened, the company offered a 15-cent increase. The union demanded 35 cents and other concessions. Also, it took the position that it would not arbitrate, under the contract provision that the old contract should stay in effect until a new contract was agreed upon. When the company refused this ultimatum, the local called a strike.

No membership vote was taken on this strike order by the union officials. They contended that the year-old strike vote held, despite the fact that two-thirds of the present 15,000 union employes did not work for the company a year ago.

The old strike vote, moreover, was not taken on the basis of the company's latest offer. At that point, the Taft-Hartley Act came into the picture. Boeing holds that no 60-day notice was given, as that act requires.

The Taft-Hartley law states that when this provision is violated the strikers shall lose their status as employes for the purpose of collective bargaining. The company therefore feels that it has no right under the law to engage in collective bargaining with the union and it has notified the government of that position. Meanwhile, the union has filed charges with the NLRB. The company has secured an injunction from the federal court against mass picketing.

This is the first strike the Boeing people have had in their 32 years of life. Competitively, they were at a distadvantage at the end of the war because they were at that time almost exclusively engaged in manufacturing the B-29. They were compelled when work stopped on that war model to take time out to develop new models for peacetime production.

The plant at Seattle labors under some difficulties because of its strategic position. It is regarded as a vital industry at the very frontier in the event of a war with Russia.

Increasing diversion of its work to other cities might be anticipated.

This is where the concern of the city of Seattle comes in. Clearly, the city would suffer from such diversion. Moreover, if the red flag of industrial trouble is raised, the effect would be to keep new industry from moving to the Pacific Northwest. The region as well as the nation is deeply interested in this critical test of the efforts of Congress to bring order into industrial relations.

INCONSEQUENTIAL and trivial folks get so much free publicity and glorification these days that it's nice to see a little acclaim go to somebody who rates it. Such a person is Mrs. Leonard B. Don't Overdo Goodness

By ELSIE ROBINSON

YEARS ago a flip bit of philosophy took America by storm. It was attached to a doleful image of a downcast pup and it said—

DON'T BE A LITTLE RAY OF SUNSHINE WHEN EVERYONE ELSE WANTS TO SIT IN THE SHADE.

I'm for that notion 100 per cent.

It's good to be good. But it's no good being so good that you give everyone a pain in the neck.

It's a fine thing to be cheerful, friendly, honest and brave but it's not a fine thing if you parade it with brass bands, toe dancers and gold medals.

It has long been my opinion that a really model life should commit righteous acts with as much stealth as a second story burglar making off with his loot.

"Let not thy right hand know what thy left hand doeth." And if possible keep all your good deeds to yourself.

Life, at best, is a strenuous affair. There are times when the finest spirits long to sprawl in the shade and chew their cud and such times are as essential as food and sleep. They are vitally necessary to our growth and balance.

We don't want to think during those times. We don't want to be reminded of duty or be plagued by well meaning friends. Least of all do we want to cut capers or indulge in arguments. We just want to take things easy and let new energy refresh and refill us.

But sure as shootin' when we finally manage to crawl off by ourselves and achieve this much desired privacy, along comes some goat minded friend full of advice or querulous gossip, or intent on making whoopee—and incites us to homicide.

This is a swell world and I'm glad I'm here but I often think how much happier we might be if we'd learn to respect each other's right to privacy. Very few of us would think of stealing or lawbreaking but we'll break into our neighbor's privacy without scruple, regardless of what it does to his state of mind.

Yes, that pup certainly knew his stuff. "Don't be a little ray of sunshine when everyone else wants to sit in the shade."

Don't bust into the other fellow's mood until you're sure you're invited and even then take it easy.

One Man's Opinion

MR. TRUMAN'S suggestion of a duplicate White House in every foreign capital leaves the other candidates cold . . . In this contest no reasonable facsimiles will be accepted.

The President's idea is that in an embassy designed to look like the White House, Americans abroad would feel at home . . . Evidently no Republicans are traveling these days.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

GOP Congressmen Discuss Conscription

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Three prominent Republicans discussed a substitute for conscription the other morning over their bacon and eggs. They were: House Speaker Joe Martin, West Virginia's Congressman Mel Snyder and New Jersey's Congressman Frank Mathews.

Snyder and Mathews argued that defense dollars could be better spent to strengthen the National Guard and Reserve. The Speaker gave his blessings to the idea, but suggested also using a limited draft to prod recalcitrants into the National Guard and the Reserve.

"We already have a backlog of 10 to 12 million battle-trained veterans," Snyder pointed out. "Compulsory training would just increase the backlog."

What the country needs, urged the West Virginia Republican, is not a big draft but an efficient reserve program. America already has plenty of civilian minute-men, but lacks a program to keep them up to date and on their toes. Under peacetime conscription, masses of young men would simply march through the military mill and follow the steps of the wartime veterans back into civilian life—with no place to keep their military skills sharpened.

Rep. Snyder agreed that fresh blood must be brought into the program, but insisted that the best way to train recruits was through the National Guard and Reserve. For a fraction of the cost of universal military training, the same number of young men could drill once a week and familiarize themselves with the latest weapons, with specialized courses to train technical personnel.

Congressman Mathews agreed. He even suggested that military training be added to the curriculum of the public schools. But Speaker Martin and Snyder did not agree.

* * *

Possible GOP Program

THE SPEAKER favored a modified form of the draft, and, in the end, Snyder summed up a compromise program as follows: 1. Require all men between 18 and 30 to register; 2. Stockpile strategic materials; 3. Give the President authority to conscript men for the armed services up to the authorized level, making certain that the ceiling is held down.

"I can go along with that," agreed Martin.

As a final caution, he added: "We have to watch our defense program to keep it within the means of the country to support."

After V-J Day, a far-reaching reserve program was drawn up by representatives of the regular Army, the Reserves and National Guard. Although this was approved by then Chief of Staff George Marshall and Secretary of War Robert Patterson, it has been wantonly neglected.

A total of 630,000 enlisted men signed up for the Reserve, but the Army hasn't even bothered to get in touch with them. As a result, more than 500,000 are expected to drop out this year. In addition, 278,000 officers signed up for the Reserves, but the Army has assigned only 38,000 to units. The others are merely marking time.

The conclusion seems inescapable that the reason for this gross neglect is that the Army wanted to build up its military might with peacetime conscription rather than use less glamorous manpower already available.

More Troops to Alaska

REPORTS of troop movements to Alaska have been officially dismissed by the Army as "routine." Real truth, however, is that they are not routine. Of late the Army has kept only service troops in Alaska, but it's now reinforcing them with about 14,000 combat troops.

Though this is significant, actually it's about as effective as a good-sized Boy Scout troop on our only frontier which faces Russia. Limited housing facilities in Alaska, however, will not accommodate more.

* * *

What About Railroads

STORY behind the unrelenting drive to settle the railroad dispute is that both sides are getting jittery about nationalization of the industry.

This is no longer the bugaboo it used to be. Inside fact is that management and labor spokesmen are worried over sentiment in Congress to leave the railroads under permanent federal control if the government has to seize them every time a work stoppage threatens.

Three times in five years—1943, 1946 and 1948—the government has taken over the industry to avert a nation-wide transportation tieup and some congressmen are getting fed up with the seizure formula.

Both the carriers and the unions fear the results of nationalization. The industry would be run as a government agency, as the post office department, with no more taxpayer subsidies to guarantee profits, and the profits, if any, going to the U. S. treasury. Management chiefs would become salaried, federal employes, subject to approval by Congress.

On the other hand, the railway brotherhoods would be reduced to the status of civil service unions, with their right to strike automatically revoked since the Taft-Hartley Act forbids strikes against the government.

* * *

Merry-Go-Round

MOST lobbyists work undercover. Not many ever write books about their work. One exception to the rule is Dorothy Detzer, long-time lobbyist for peace, who has just written a book "Appointment On the Hill." . . . Miss Detzer had more to do with putting across the Senate munitions probe and passing the Army embargo bill than anyone else in the USA. The Senate munitions hearings showed how the U. S. munitions firms sold arms to the nazis—a dress rehearsal for a policy already beginning today. . . Eleven colleges have picked Senator Arthur Vandenberg as their candidate for president at mock conventions, in spite of letters from the senator discouraging them. . . Barbara Ann Scott, Canadian queen of the amateur skating world, will be crowned queen of the Junior Chamber of Commerce by John Ben Shepperd in Philadelphia, June 3. . . Assistant Secretary of State Willard Thorpe will soon resign.

Washington Calling

Evils That Evade Laws

By MARQUIS CHILDS

IN THE aftermath of World War I, the country adopted prohibition. Alcohol used in excess was a proved evil and therefore it should be abolished by law.

In the aftermath of World War II, Congress proposes to abolish the political evil of communism by passing a law or several laws. For it is clear that the Mundt bill is only the beginning of a drive to legislate communism out of existence.

This reflects something deep in the American character — "There oughta be a law." It looks so simple. The abuse of alcohol causes a waste of resources and incalculable social harm; therefore prohibit it by legislative fiat.

We fail to realize that deep-rooted social evils cannot be eradicated by a law. We fail, too, to realize that the consequence of such a law may be more disastrous than the evil it was meant to cure. We saw that in the case of prohibition. In my opinion, the effort to wipe out communism by legislative fiat would have even more serious consequences.

It is interesting that the present drive has in large measure the same origin as the drive for prohibition had. It comes from rural America, from the middle west, from the region broadly described by H. L. Mencken as the Bible belt.

Rep. Karl Mundt is a former South Dakota school teacher. Hard working, ambitious, he believes sincerely in the American virtues of self-help, free enterprise.

Along with his conversion to the necessity for America to assume a leading role in the world, he has learned a little about the communist movement and its conspiratorial plot to bring about communist domination in every country. Communists are plotters who defy the laws of man and God. They are often of foreign origin; they live in cities.

Mundt honestly believes that the evil represented by these plotters can be abolished by law. Besides, it is a popular political issue and he is running for the Senate, with a good chance to step up from the lower chamber to the upper.

* * *

Removing the Screen.

IN DISCUSSING the bill with Mundt, I pointed out the parallel between the effort to eradicate the sin of alcohol by the prohibition law and the effort to wipe out the political sin of communism by passing laws. He came back with this:

"What our bill does is to say you can't put a screen in front of a saloon. A saloon must be publicly labeled a saloon. This is all we are doing."

That is a shrewd answer. But the fact remains that laws to label saloons as a public evil were merely one step in the drive of those seeking to abolish the evil by law.

A few courageous members of the House—John Carroll of Colorado, Jacob Javits of New York, Chet Holifield of California — pointed out in the House debate that communism can take hold in America only if there are grave social maladjustments and a mounting sense of injustice. They pointed out that there are laws now on the books to safeguard the country from plotters if those laws are only properly enforced.

"It is significant," Carroll said, "that those who cry the loudest about the threat and danger of communism do the least to present a constructive program with which to cut the ground out from under those who advocate communism."

He was referring, of course, to the fact that a little group of leaders in the House have persistently blocked even the mild Taft housing bill and every other form of social legislation intended to relieve some of the pressures of this period of inflation.

Eggs For Uncle.

How much are Akronites paying for eggs? Fifty-nine, sixty, sixty-five cents a dozen? That's what we're paying for eggs we get. We're also buying some we'll never see.

Uncle Sam is back in the egg buying business—the old support-price, must-pay-farmers-90-percent-of-parity routine. Last year he bought $75,000,000 worth of eggs to keep prices up. There are still 49 million pounds of frozen eggs in storage.

The government doesn't need or want more eggs. Freezing, storing or drying them just adds to the expense. But the law congress passed and insists upon keeping compels the government to buy eggs when the farmer's price starts to slip. The tax-payer's dollars, of course, pay the bill.—Akron Beacon Journal.

When School Is Out

By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE DAY when our village school is out here again. For all the young folks it is a high spot on the calendar. This morning the big range schoolbus made its last early round over all the back country roads, and hilarious youngsters climbed aboard for the last time until autumn.

At noon, a picnic dinner will be enjoyed . . . wieners and buns cooked over fires kindled by the school janitor and supervised by smiling teachers with sheaves of report cards ready to hand out afterward.

Our own younger boys were ready without prompting . . . I drove them the two miles myself in the Ford V8. As I let them out at School Alley and watched them run, I was happy to share their joy on the last bright May morning of their school year. It was pleasant to think that after today no high cold brick walls would shut them away from the summer sunshine that blesses young things so well.

Now off with shoes—off with unnecessary clothes! Off with schoolroom pallor and the grind of books! On with a coat of bronzy tan, on with racing, tumbling, frolicking summertime fun.

"Oh, for boyhood's time of June . . . barefoot tracks through dewy grass, along pasture lanes, through thick dust of country roads. Naked leaps from the banks of the swimming hole, where tall elms arch blue sky overhead, and fragrant mint crushes into perfume beneath a boy's soles.

Brown busy hands will hoe, milk, and handle fork and spade. Tractor-driving hands will do the farm work and call it fun. Busy minds will learn from Nature many good things through the close companionship that farm work brings.

Formal education has its place. But every year there is something precious about the joy that springs into the country boy's face and manner on the day that school is out. There is something delightful about unharnessing a colt and turning it out to pasture. If it does not run, toss its head, kick up its heels and roll for joy, something is wrong. So, on the day when the country school is out, every farmer father, I suppose, can sympathize with how boys feel—girls too—at the thought of a long summer vacation.

Friends Fete Recent Bride

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, 860 South Main road, entertained recently in honor of Mrs. Leslie K. Wagner, nee Betty Thompson, who was married March 20 in Chicago.

Eight guests played hearts during the evening and Mrs. M. E. Barrett and Miss Marvel Weigand won the prizes for high scores.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served from a table covered with a white cloth printed with pink flowers. In the center was a large box decorated with pink and blue crepe paper and containing the miscellaneous gifts for the honoree. Lighted candles and attractive blue nut cups completed the appointments.

Circulation Of Books To Schools Up

21.440 Distributed In Richland Area

Book truck circulation to Richland county schools increased more than 5,000 in the 1947-1948 school year over the 1946-1947 school year, according to Mrs. Lois G. Pennell, county librarian.

A total of 21,440 books were distributed during the bi-monthly visits of the truck to Butler, Lexington, Lucas, Ontario, Shiloh and Union Rural schools.

Highest percentage of reading per enrollment was recorded at Union Rural school where 134 pupils read 1,957 books. The truck services only the Union high school. All 12 grades are serviced at the other schools. The highest readership was at Ontario school with a total of 5,393 books read.

Other circulation statistics on school year reading at the schools were: Butler, 3,589 books; Lexington, 4,424 books; Lucas, 4,236 books, and Shiloh, 1,841 books.

Circulation of books to the classroom libraries in county elementary schools totaled 13,943 for the year, making a grand circulation for the county collection of 35,383 for the school year.

Mrs. Pennell said that 40 teachers in the district (with the exception of Shelby which has its own branch) asked for 1,114 books during the first semester. Other reading brought the first semester's total reading to 6,252 books. The figure was boosted during the second semester.

Forty-two teachers sought books during the second semester. Circulation jumped to 7,691.

Mrs. Pennell said it is hoped that the added capacity of the new book mobile will make it possible to extend bi-monthly service to all county elementary schools next year. Because of limited equipment, one box of books per semester was all that was given to the grade schools in the past year.

Similar service to city schools is offered through the library in charge of Miss Eva Leonard, children's librarian.

Car Output Goes Higher

Gain Shown In Spite of Strike

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT —(AP)— The car industry gained production momentum this week—but not much.

Like last week, output moved up slightly despite the Chrysler strike because General Motors and Ford were able to increase their assemblies. The trade paper Automotive News estimated this week's United States production at 57,930 passenger cars and 26,020 trucks against its calculation of 52,684 cars and 27,561 trucks last week. Ward's reports placed this week assemblies at 57,301 passenger units and 26,313 trucks compared with 52,813 cars and 26,875 trucks last week.

It has been estimated that the wage dispute tie-up of the Crysler plants, closed since May 12, is cutting production by about 5,000 cars and trucks a day.

With all its assembly units in production this week General Motors came close to its average postwar output; Ford gained additional volume on its new model assemblies. Chevrolet produced its 300,000th passenger car of the year.

Excepting for Chrysler all the car factories were in production this week. All makes of cars but Chryslers, Dodges, DeSotos and Plymouths probably will roll from assembly lines next week.

What happens after that is uncertain. A CIO United Auto Workers' strike against General Motors has been announced for May 28. A stoppage in GM plants throughout the nation would lop another 9,000 or more cars and trucks a day from the industry's aggregate output.

Large Industries Hunt Gas For Busy Plants

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Large Western Pennsylvania industries —tired of natural gas shortages which cut into production each winter—are now prospecting on their own hook.

Many of them are drilling for gas in their own backyards since it's costly and difficult to transport the fuel long distances.

Several companies have expanded drilling activities since the postwar shortage arose and others, like Allegheny Ludlum Steel corporation, are going into gas prospecting for the first time.

An outstanding example of the current trend is the Carnegie Natural Gas company, a big industrial gas producer wholly owned by the U. S. Steel corporation. That company has the status of a public utility since it supplies individuals located along its lines as well as the steel mills which use gas to reheat steel so it can be processed.

At a time when the constantly increasing demands for gas have strained facilities, the operations of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company demonstrate how some big concerns are supplementing purchased gas with gas from private wells.

Drilling activities by Pittsburgh Plate Glass reached an all-time high last year because of the severity of the fuel shortage in this industrial capital.

Last year the firm drilled 22 wells, with 10 rigs in operation. This year only four rigs are in use. The company has more than 250 gas-producing wells in Armstrong, Butler, Indiana, Jefferson and Westmoreland counties of Pennsylvania. Gas is piped through the company's own lines to compressor stations and then pumped to two big plate glass plants in Creighton and Ford City, Pa.

In recent winters, Pittsburgh district gas consumer industrial plants have suffered extensive production losses and employes have lost working time because public utilities have reduced—and sometimes cut off—gas to industrial customers. By law, utilities must meet the needs of householders and give industry what's left.

Pittsburgh Steel corporation, a big gas user, has been energetic in a hunt for new supplies. It has seven wells on its property at nearby Monessen and recently began new drilling at the Allenport plant. Leases were taken on 800 acres of adjoining property.

Allegheny Ludlum has drilled two test wells at plants in Brackenbridge and West Leechburg. Both struck gas. In addition, the company has secured gas rights on extensive tracts of nearby Lend.
